THE WEEK IN SOCIETY.

A most uneventful period has been the last week. scercely anything has happened which could call for more than a passing mention. That the year's ocial gayety, so far as the senson in town is concerned, is at an end is amply illustrated by the well-known number of luncheon and dinner parties and the absence of other large and more formal en-Out-of-door diversions have been timulated all along the social lines. Driving has been one of the features of the week, especially in the afternoons, when the fine roads in Central Park as well as Riverside Drive have been crowded with such a display of well appointed equipages as are not often seen here even at the height of the season. With all this display of horseflesh, splendid car riages and the rich and handsome costumes of the women it is generally regretted that the Claremont tea is a thing of the past, or rather that the treacherous and capricious weather of a year ago left the promoters little desire to attempt a reorganization of them this season. Not before these pleasant afterteas came into fashion had the many pretty women in New-York Society the opportunity, except at some of the country club race meetings, or on the day of the ceaching parade, to display their finest spring raiment out of doors. Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Cruger and their associates who organized the cessfully this pleasant spring diversion, and even at this late date to them is due praise for aptitude in providing for New-York a novel feature ich is missed by many of the former subscribers.

The arrival of the Infanta Eulalie has at last set at rest all doubt as to the fact that a ball is to be given in her honor in the Assembly Rooms of the Madison Square Garden. The list of patronesses has already been announced in the columns of The Tribune, and in a few days the final details and arrangements for the entertainment of the royal visitor and her suite will be made. It is expected that most mem bers of the Diplomatic Corps will come from Washington, and that the entertainment will be unusually sumptuous.

Maritime excursions which have been so much in vogue since the arrival of the warships in these waters were few last week. A luncheon was given a few days ago by Admiral de Libran, of the French fleet, on board the Arcthuse in honor of some ladies who have shown him considerable social attention, and in recognition of this compliment Mrs. E. L. Stanley gave an informal reception on Friday night for the Admiral and the other officers of the fleet. Mrs. Stanley, in a gown of heavy white silk and valencienues was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs Richard Croker, who were a superb satin brocade and pearls. A few of the guests were Mayor and Mrs. Gilroy, Miss Gilroy, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Mulqueen, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hotchkiss, Mr. and Mrs. John Pox, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hess, Mr. and Mrs. John Coogan, Mr. and Mrs. Heratio Perkins, Dr. James R. Taylor, Hosen B. Perkins, Amos Eno, Professor Whithaus, Mrs. Lucien B. Chase and Mrs. Emma

Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Aster's dinner party on Tuesday night in honor of the Grand Duke Alexander was one of the pleasant incidents of the week. The decorations, in compliment as it seemed to the remarkably handsome New-York women assembled about the table, were entirely of American Beauty roses. The Grand Duke Alexander, who speaks English almost faultlessly, had entertained Mr. and Mrs. Astor a few days before on board of the flagship Mmitri Donskoi, of which he is an officer.

The one surprise of the week in society was the announcement that the engagement of Miss Amy Bend and A. Lanfear Norric had been broken. It had been expected that the wedding would be one of the most brilliant of many to take place in June. A disappointment to a great many people in society was the indefinite postponement of the marriage of Augustus Whiting, of this city, and Miss May Allen Claggett, one of the most beautiful women in Washington. The wedding was to take place at the bride's home in Elxteenth-st., Washington, on Wednesday. Every preparation had been made for the ceremony, which was to be performed by Bishop Keane, but almost at the last moment the bride was taken seriously

The marriage of Miss Marian Wartridge Dunbur, of Atlanta, Ga., to William Auchinbreck Campbell, of the Larchmont Club was through all the afternoon this city, took place on Tuesday evening in St. Paul's and a fleet of yachta lay in the harbor ready to Protestant Episcopal Church in Atlanta, and was a brilliant wedding. The bride, who is the eldest daughter of Barney S. Dunbar, who was one of the largest and modere Colt's schooner yacht Dauntless, Harold San-Dunbar, who was one of the largest and wealthiest cotton merchants in the State of Georgia, was given away by her brother, Steiner M. The Rev. Dr. Chauncey Williams sector of St. Paul's, officiated. The wedding reception, which was small, owing to the recent deaths of the fathers of the bride and bridegroom, was held at the old Dunbar mansion. The bride received many beautiful and costly gifts, cotspicuous among them being a com-plete service of silver from Mr. Campbell's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are spending their honeymoon at Auchinbreck, Cherry Valley, N. Y., where the bride groom owns a handsome place, which he inherited from his father. Mr. Campbell is a lawyer, and is at pres ent with the firm of Evarts, Chonte & Beaman,

A pretty wedding was celebrated in town on ednesday, at noon, in the Church of the Transfiguration, when Miss Cornella Scudder, of Glenwood, L. I., cas married to James Burnside Hendrick, a son of onel James Hendrick, of Albany. Because of a ecent death in the bride's family, few persons outside of relatives were invited to the church, and there was no reception, the cards for it having been re-Mr. and Mrs. Hendrick will live in Albany.

Clarence Cox will take place at noon on Tuesday, at the home of the bride's parents, One-hundredand-fortieth-st, and the Western Boulevard. A wedding breaking, will follow the coromony. The brideding treakfast will follow the ceremony. The bride-groom is a son of Jennings S. Cox, of West Sixtyeighth-st. In the evening of the same day Miss Lucy 1. Furrows will be married to Irving M. Shaw, in the Church of the Heavenly Rest. On the following day the murlage of Miss Caroline Matilda Snow, of Boston, to Clarence E. Knott, of this city, will take place in South Church, Eoston. A number of guests from this city will go on for the ceremony and reception.

Mrs. John Lyon Gardiner, of Gardiner's Island, has artis out for a luncheon on Tuesday, at her home in Madison-ave., in honor of Mrs. A. Gracle King, president of the society of the Colonial Dames of America. Mrs. Gardiner's guests will be members of this society.

Matrimonial engagements have been announced with frequency, and many have been rumored, not always on the best authority, however. One of the most important of those announced is that of Miss Grace man, of Paris, to Frederick F. Ayer, of this city. Miss Morgan is at present visiting Mrs. Frederick Pear-son, sister of Mr. Ayer, at her home in West Fiftyseventh-st. From Poston comes the news of the en gagement of Miss Sarah Bond Stratton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Amos Stratton, daughter of this city, to James D. Hunt, of London. The engagement is announced of Miss Emily Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fuller, to Charles Wolcott Parker, son of Cortlandt Parker, of Newark.

The first week of June this year should be called wedlock week, for in no period of the season will more marriages take place than during the early days of the month of roses. One of the most brilliant on 1st of June will be that of Miss Maria Banks mother of the bride, at New-Hamburg-on-the-Hudson.

Miss Laura Post, Miss Callender and Miss Hamilton are interested, will be given in Carnegle Hail on Wednesday and Thursday, to secure funds to open a day nursery on the West Side of the town, between Fourteenth and Thirty-fourth sts. A most altractive programme will be offered and the patronesses are hopeful of securing a large sum of money. Fashlonable people in and about Grange, N. J., are interested in the coming outdoor performance of shakespeare's comedy "As You Like Ht." which will be produced on the lawn of Oliver Carter's handsome place, called Monntain Side, on Monday of next week to add the House of the Good Shepherd, of Orange, Mrs. John C. Wilmerding and Mrs. F. M. Eppley are giving much of their time and attention to the entertainment, which will be given under the patronnae of a large number of prominent women. A competent cempany of actors will play, while John Malone, besides officiating as stage manager, will be the Orlando in the play. The demand for tickets has thus far been gratifying and should the weather be at all propitions, a large gethering will witness an elaborate performance of Shakespeare's beautiful comedy. Mrs. Carter will entertum the rompany of players at a reception and tea immediately after the performance.

As a sort of prelude to the opening of the coaching season and the annual parade of the Coaching Club, several members of the organization yesteriax morrhing started out on the annual spring drive, their destination being Tuxedo Park, where they will remain until to-morrow morning, when the return trip to town will be made. There were only several men on top of the old Ploneer when it started away from in front of the Hotel Brunswick yesterday, two of the guests, Colonel William Jay and Theodore A. Havemeyer, having folled to appear. It is expected that there will be at least eight coaches in the parade or "meet," which will take place on Saturday of this week. Those who will in all likelihood take part in the parade are Frederic Pronson, Colonel Jay, F. K. Sturgis, Theodore A. Havemeyer, Frederich Beach, William K. Vanderbilt and William F. Morgan, Luncheon will be served at the clubbouse on the green's full of the Open Air Horse Show, Eighthave., and One hundred-and-fifty-fifth-st.

THE COACHING CLUE'S SPRING DRIFE.

A PARTY OF SEVEN GOES TO TUXEDO ON THE OLD PIONEER.

On the annual spring drive of the Coaching Club a gay party started resterday for Tuxedo on the coach Pioceer. The start, as in former years, was from in front of the Hotel Brunswick, but there were few people on the sidewalk to see half a dozen or so of enthusiastic lovers of coaching begin their journey of nearly fifty-five nilles. There were absolutely goodbys, and not even a single "to ta" sounded on the silver coaching born as the Pioneer rolled away from the hotel. The members of the party began to gather at the hotel by 8:45 o'clock, and already at that hour the old Pioncer, shining in a new coat of yellow and red paint, was drawn up before the entrance ready to receive its passengers. Nins-invitations had been issued and accepted, and at 9 o'clock, the heur set for the start, all the guests cause always appeals to the hearts of the miniswith the exception of Colonel William Jay and Theodore A. Havemeyer were on hand. It was decided they themselves may yet become recipients of it to wait five minutes for the belated ones, and as they did not appear at the end of that time Frederick Eronson took the box and drawing the reics over the leaders and wheelers, golden chestnut horses glittering in their silver trappings, he started the Floteer on the journey. On the box sent with Mr. Econson sat William K. Vanderbilt. William F. Meigan, Charles F. Havemeyer and Frederic O. Beach occupied the seat directly behind, and on the rear seat were Frank

MAJOR-GENERAL HAMILTON GOES SOUTH.

HE IS WORN OUT WITH WATCHING AT HIS SICK

WIFE'S BEDSIDE. Major-General Alexander Hamilton, a grandson of Major-General Alexander Hamilton, a grandson of Alexander Hamilton, famous in the early history of the country, left town yesterday for Fortress Monroe on the Old Dominton Line steamer with Dr. O'Measher. General Hamilton was taken ill at the recent meeting of the Society of the Cancinnati at Delmonico's, and was taken to the house of his friend, Mrs. Freeman, twenty-sixth-st., was called, and has since been in attendance. Dr. Brockway said last night that his patient had been worn out by a long watch at the bedside of his sick wife at his home in Tavrytown. and that in the effort to attend the meeting he had and that in the enort to attend the meeting he had exhausted Finself. VISITING WASHINGTON'S TOMB.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY COMMISSIONERS EN

TESTAINED BY THE EXCURSION COMMITTEE -A FEW HOURS FOR BUSINESS.

Washington, May 20 (Special).-The Presbyterian General Assembly met promptly this morning and accomplished a good deal of business before the adjournment at noon. The afternoon was given to pleasure. The Commissioners, hardly recovering from the excitement of a visit to the White House yesterday, were taken to Mount Vernon, a city succeeded in placing so many alluring and successful temptations before the Church's representatives. But all this pleasure can be endured, for stern work lies just ahead. When once the Judicial Committee has reported on the Briggs case, pleasure, ease, rest itself, will scarcely be thought of, and it seems now as though the committee would reach a conclusion by Tuesday or Wednesday.

Two or three important committees were heard to-day. The Board of Ministerial Relief was ably COMMENDING THE WORK OF YOUNG PEOPLE. Washington, May 20.-Among the interesting reports abuilties to the General Assembly during its session o-day was that of the special committee on Young People's Societies, consisting of the Rev. Messrs. F. C. Monfort and Robert J. Service, and Elder John H. Holliday, appointed in accordance with the over-ture from the Presbytery of Zanesville, asking for a model constitution for young people's societies in the Fresbyterian Church, which shall scenre uniformty of organization in harmony with the church polity.

The committee said it "does not believe that uniformity of organization in harmony with our church polity is to be attained by the adoption of one contitution by all local young people's societies. A CHANGE AT THE PRESS CLUB FAIR.

THE WHOLE MANAGEMENT NOW IN THE HANDS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

A change has occurred in the management of the Press Cleb Fair. During the weeks preceding the opening of the fair, and during the first days of he fair, Charles O'C, Hennessy held the office of director general of the fair. Some after the opening of the fair Mr. Hennessy was obliged to resign on account of illness. He returned from a sea voyage on Tuesday. A. P. de Fre e, of "The Mail and Express," succeeded Mr. Hennessy in the management the fall. Two days after his return Mr. Hennessy resumed his duties. His authority, however, seemed to have been curtalled to a certain extent. were some differences of opinion between Mr. Hennessy on the one hand and Mr. de Freez and the Executive Committee of the fair on the other. Consequently, Mr. Hennessy resigned in order to avoid any conflict of authority that might injuriously affect the success of the fair.

John A. Cockerill, president of Cockerill, president of told a Tribune reporter last evenly, the manage-ment of the fair was now vested society in the Executive Committee. The attendance at the fair last evening was larger than on any previous evening since the opening. It was estimated that 15,000 persons visited the fair yesterday afternoon and evening. Yesterday was "Yale Day," and the flower and other booths were decorated with the colors of

A few days ago Detective McDonald, of Poughkeepsie, was told that Mrs. Woerner had received a letter saying that her husband was at John A. Ludowski's boardinghouse, No. 205 Washington-st., Jersey City. McDonald went to Jersey City with a keeper from the Matteawan asylum. They secured services of Detective Dalton and Postmaster Dickinson gave them the use of a room in the postoffice where they could watch Ladowski's barroom.

Last night they saw Worner enter the place, and the keeper having identified him, he was taken into custody. He had on a Pennsylvania Raffroad uniform. and had been working in the company's baggage-room for two weeks. He will be arraigned before Police descried a wife in Austria, married Annie Laudeck in Poughkeepsle, and Fischer sent for the first wife to come to America and prosecute him for bigamy. Woerner paid his wife to go away and then shot Fischer. Justice O'Donnell to-morrow. Woerner, who had

TO DISSOLVE A LAW PARTNERSHIP.

HENRY DAILY, JR., BRINGS SUIT TO SEVER HIS CONNECTION WITH F. F. NUGENT.

Henry Daily, Jr., the senior member of the law firm of Daily & Nugent, of No. 37 Wall-st., is suing for the dissolution of the firm, although it has been in existence only a few months. The junior member of the firm is F. F. Nugent. He was formerly secretary Campbell. Mr. Campbell is one of Scantor Hill's of the American Sarcty Company, and subsequently most ardent and active Snappers. Nobody questions assisted in forming the Lawyers' Surety Company. Democratic party or his subserviency to the State machine. Eut he has his shortcomings, and the Tammany bosses of New-York believe that Mr. Cantor will make a much more satisfactors and the Cantor. & Nugent on it, although the firm agreement dis-tinctly said that neither partner should have the power to do this without the consent of the other. Mr. Nugent explains, however, that this rumor was unfounded. Mr. Nugent overdrew his account to the senior member of the firm secured an injunction re-straining his partner from signing the firm name to paper or from in any way interfering with the firm property. In the complaint, which has been filed in the County Clerk's office, Daily asks for a dissolution of the firm.

Carlyle Norwood was yesterday appointed received of the property at No. 2,005 Fifth-ave., in a suit in which Norwood is the plaintiff. The house is owned by Nogent and is mortgaged for $22,060. It is said to be worth not more than $20,000. Several Judg-ments are on record against Nugent. He severed his connection with the American surety Company fifteen months ago, and resigned from the vice-presidency of the Lawyers' Company five months ago.

THE FLATBUSH ASTLUM CHARGES.

OFFICIALS DEFEND THEMSELVES-TO INVESTI GATE THE DEATH OF A PATIENT.

The Flatbush Itsane Asylum officials were disturbed yesterday over the result of the Coroner's inquest in the case of Mrs. Martha Emily Adair, who died in the hespital. The inquest was conducted by Coroner Creamer, and the developments were sensational. The testimony has been laid before District-Attorney Ridgway. Mrs. Adair had been mentally unbalanced, but he insanity was of the intermittent kind, and she enjoyed many facid intervals. She was the mother of several children, among them being Mrs. Martha E. clark, who for many years has possessed a local musical reputation and formerly led the cheir in St. Paul's Roman Catholie Church, at Court and Con-gress sts. Another daughter is Mrs. Elvina Pidgeon, of No. 518 Greene-ave. It was at her home that the funeral took place.

Mrs. Adair was transferred from the reception pavilion at Bellevue to the Flatbush Asylum on April 14, 1890, and was put under the care of Dr. I. O. fracy. In January last she was removed to another part of the asylum controlled by Dr. F. M. Phillips. In the room where she had a bed were three other cots. On this floor were about forty patients, at-tended to by Ellen Reilly, assisted by Nellie Diamond. On April 27 Mrs. Adair died. The body was taken harge of by J. J. Higgins, an undertaker. It was then found that the body was a mass of bruises and that many of the ribs were broken. Coroner Creamer rdered an autopsy, and instead of death being due to old age, as the certificate says, the physicians declare that it resulted from fracture of the ribs and

At the time the case was first brought to the notice of the city authorities, William Sylvester, super-intendent of the asylum, denied that the woman bad been ill-treated. He said Mrs. Adair was in the habit of falling or throwing herself out of bed, and frequently fell down while walking across the room. she had also a mania, he said, for smashing glass, and in this manner cut her hands. Dr. Phillips corroborated Mr. Sylvester's statements. Mrs. Addir, according to the statements of her daughter, who visited her at the asylum, told them that she was subjected o brutal treatment by the other patients, at the suggeston of the nurses.

Drs. Freel and Clayton, who made the autopsy declare that the condition of the body could never have been made by falling out of bed. Colonel B. F. Gott, president of the Charities Commissions, received the following statement yesterday from Superintendent Sylvester:

I have just returned from an inquest in the case of Martha Analr, held by Coroner Creamer at 8 p. m., and to which Dr. Phillips, the two nurses (Ellen Reilly and tellen Diamond) were summoned.

In regard to the inquest I will say that they claimed that "ten ribs were tractured," and "the patient died that "ten ribs were tractured before that, and many other ribs were iractured before that, and many other theories, to which an educated physician would not testify positively, for even if these were fractured rills it is impressible for any one to state just when they were broken, and in a person of her age such a thing could happen at any time, especially in the handling of remains after death.

While the very extensives described might be readily explained from the fact that the autopsy

be readily explained from the fact that the autopsy

Colonel Gott said to a reporter yesterday, when usked what action would be taken, that under the order of the State Lunacy Commission, approved by Judge Cullen, the Charitles Commissions had nothing to do with the insane asylum beyond appointing the medical superintendent, paying salaries and furnishing supplies. An investigation, however, would be made and further testimony taken in the case.

Commissioner Francis F. Nolan said last evening that a rigid investigation would at once be made. Testimony would be taken on Tuesday morning at ANTOINE WOERNER, WHO SHOT JOSEPH FIGHER, FOUND IN JERSEY CITY.
Antoine Woerner killed Joseph Fischer, in Poughkeepsle October 20, 1887, and pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree after a jury that tried him for murder had discarded. He was contained to the case of the employees in the institutions, "We can discharge Mr. Sylvester," be added, "but so far nothing has come to light to show that he is to blame for this occurrence."

ARRESTED FOR ANNOYING YOUNG WOM EN

E. A. HURRY OBJECTS TO CALLERS AT HIS HOUSE.

Henter Sarfan, a carpet manufacturer, living at No. 25 West Sixteenth-st., and his clerk, H. Sertosean, who lives in the same house, were arrested about 10:30 o'clock last night in West Seventeenth-st., at the instance of E. A. Hurry, who lives at No. 30 West Seventeenth-st. Mr. Hurry charged the men with annoying his family. He has two sons and four daughters. Last night, Mr. Hurry said, the two men rang his bell and asked to see his daughters. As they had previously annoyed them before with their attentions, he had them arrested.

In the police station Mr. Earfan explained that his rooms in the Sixteenth-st. house looked directly out on the rear windows of the Hurry house, and that for some time he had been accustomed to firt with one of the young women. A day or two ago he had met her in the street, and spoken to her, he said. She had given her hame as Helen, and invited him to call on her at 10 o'clock last night. He had gone there is company with his clerk, he said, and was greatly surprised at Mr. Hurry's treatment of him. He had intended no harm, he said.

The police sergeant asked Mr. Hurry if he was prepared to make any charge against the men. Mr. Hurry at first said he would make a charge, but of reflection decided not to do so, on condition that the They gave the promise.
